OLD SERIES--VOL. XXV.

LOUISVILLE, SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 3, 1869.

NEW SERIES--VOL. I, NO. 66.

THE CITY.

Our Second Edition.

The commercial, markets, additional telegraphic and local news will be printed in our second edition.

The Fourth.

We will issue the EXPRESS as usual on Monday morning, but will omit our evening edition, in order to celebrate the glorious—Fifth.

Picnic.

The scholars and teachers of Zion Episcopal Church Sunday school go on a grand picnic excursion, to a beautiful grove near Woodlawn course, on Monday morning.

Dead.

George Wolf's cat murdered his mocking-bird last night, whereupon he found fault with everybody about the house for pussy's naughty act—which is just like a man.

Charley Noyes' Circus.

Which has been so heartily indorsed by almost every leading paper in the country, will open in our city, on Monday morning next, July fifth, with a grand morning matinee, at 10 o'clock, giving three performances on Monday, and two on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 6th and 7th.

Our Firemen.

All who were present in such matters, and who were present at the display made by the Cincinnati fire department, when our Councilmen visited that city a few days since, acknowledge that our firemen best those of Cincinnati "all hollow." The Cincinnatians threw water in a little more than five minutes after the alarm was sounded. Our firemen "got water" in just five minutes after the alarm was given. How's that for high?

Excursion Down the River.

The packet Tarascon leaves this evening at 5 p. m., from the Portland wharf, for an excursion trip to Henderson and return. A trip with Capt. Mather and the courteous and obliging Miss Warren, the clerk, cannot fail to be pleasant. Our clever young friend Dalton, in the saloon, will also furnish creature comforts to the thirsty. A splendid band will also discourse music on this occasion. Half fare only for the trip.

The Academy of Music.

This old theater, we are informed, will again be thoroughly refitted and overhauled and opened with a first-class variety company. W. P. Melville, Louisville's favorite comedian, formerly of the Opera House Company, will be the business manager and also director of amusements; hence we may expect something pretty good of the new company. The "opening" is fixed for Saturday night of next week. More of the Academy hereafter.

Courts Again.

Josephine Kellar Mitchell, alias Georgiana Ward, alias Joe Brown, alias Ellen Bowman, colored under all circumstances, was caught by Officers Hines and Martin. Last evening, and put in jail for stealing a dress and hat from a colored girl named Mary Gibson, on Sixth street. Josephine is the same festive little African female who was found sporting a fine suit of boys' clothes, some four weeks since, and sent to the workhouse for sixteen days. She served out her term of labor faithfully, but took to her old tricks of light-fingered, small stealing as soon as she got out. She will be apt to go for a longer term this time. On her finger was found a very large plain gold ring, which she is supposed to have quietly borrowed from somebody.

Accident.

Joseph Kendall, a street-car driver, met with an unfortunate accident near the corner of Fourth and Walnut streets last evening. He attempted to step on the front platform of the car while it was in motion. He missed his foothold, and one of his feet was caught by a wheel and badly mashed. The wound is a very painful one, but will not result seriously. About a week since, it will be remembered, the principal German teacher of the Madison-street school met with a similar accident on the same road. Let these accidents serve as a warning to persons to be very careful how they get on cars while the same are in motion. The railroad companies are not responsible for injuries received under such circumstances.

A Triple Mux.

Three Teutons, two men and a lady, were engaged in a nice little legal squabble in the City-Court this morning. Some time since the men entered into the second-hand furniture business, and opened a store for vending these articles to the public. The wife of one of the men thought it was a good speculation, and concluded to buy an interest in the establishment. She sent to the "old country," and from friends there procured sufficient money with which to buy an equal interest in the store and stock in trade. The proper papers of transfer, acknowledgement, etc., were signed, sealed and delivered, and placed in the hands of the proper official, who has an office in the court-house. One of the men was levied upon twice, yesterday, and finally arrested, being charged with having stolen from the court-house certain papers pertaining to the contract of the triple partnership formed in the furniture business. The lady alleges that the men have now put their heads together to swindle her out of her interest in the store, and is making bitter complaint about it. One of the men is before the City Court, and the chances are that the firm will be dissolved, not by mutual consent, but from the force of circumstances.

MURDER, ROBBERY AND ARSON.

A Railroad Depot and Store Burned.

Murder of Wm. R. Smith, formerly of New Albany.

At about 12 o'clock on Wednesday night, a most horrible murder was committed at Farrabee's station, twenty-seven miles from New Albany, on the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad. The depot, a large frame building, was burned. Near the depot was a store, also a wooden structure. This was also burned. The keeper of the store, Mr. Wm. R. Smith (formerly of New Albany), was murdered by the incendiaries and his body thrown into a small shed adjoining the store. When the flames were discovered by the citizens, nothing was known of the terrible murder that had been committed; but in the morning the body of Smith was found, charred and disfigured in a fearful manner. He had been killed with a heavy cudgel, or some similar instrument. Mr. Smith was sleeping in a room adjoining the store, and it is supposed he was first murdered in his bedroom, thrown into the shed, the store robbed, and the building then fired and totally destroyed. Smith was a man much esteemed by all who knew him. His father lives in Franklin township, near New Albany. Deceased had a cousin, Mr. Walter L. Smith, living in New Albany, to whose house the remains were taken.

The perpetrators of the horrible crime have not yet been captured, though detectives are, it is supposed, on their track. It is believed the murder, robbery and arson was committed by persons living near Farrabee station.

THE SUIT AGAINST THE CITY.

A Few Facts in the Case. Nicholson's administrator and Davis vs. the City of Louisville.—The material facts are that the city of Louisville advertised for proposals to improve two squares of Jefferson street, from Fifth to Seventh, with the Nicholson pavement. The contract was awarded to Troxell & Duckwall. After the contractors had graded the street in part, and purchased about $5,000 worth of materials for the same, they had an interview with the plaintiff, Davis, who claimed that under assignment or license from the patentee, Nicholson, he had the exclusive right to construct such pavement within the city of Louisville. Davis, however, being anxious to introduce this pavement into the city, agreed with the contractors, Troxell & Duckwall, that they might make the proposed improvement, and he would not sue them for an infringement of his rights, but would claim his royalty from the city of Louisville. The improvement was made, and the plaintiffs seek, in this action, to recover off the city the above royalty. The amount claimed is thirty-one cents per square yard—in all about two thousand dollars. The public will await with much interest the decision of the above case. G. W. Weisinger, for the plaintiff. Graham Moore for defendant.

The Third, Fourth and Fifth.

Several private parties are being held in the beautiful groves near the city to-day. Tomorrow the beer-gardens will be crowded with "celebrates," beer will flow as plentifully and freely as the water in the Ohio. The patrons of beer gardens will, in fact, be the only persons who will "celebrate" the Fourth hereabouts to-morrow. On Monday several school and private picnic excursions are arranged to take place; but present prospects indicate that Louisville will give the "Fourth" the go-by almost entirely. The little boys will have their "Fourth," however, and fire off and burn up the usual amount of shooting-crackers and fire-works. All in all, it will be the "driest" Fourth of July ever experienced about the falls.

The Circus.

Let all our patrons bear in mind that Charley Noyes' great Crescent City circus opens here on Monday. The world-famous Wilson Brothers, Charley McCarthy, Nooda Cook, Miss Emma Stickney, M'Le Carotta, Signor Monteverde, all bright particular stars of the arena, are attached to this circus, and will positively appear at every performance. Do not confound the circus with any other exhibition, but go to the corner of East and Walnut streets and witness one of the best circuses that ever visited Louisville.

Personal.

Judge Williams, of the Court of Appeals, is in the city to-day. Judge M. R. Hardin and Judge Robertson, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, went up to Cincinnati on the short line railroad. The Lexington Gazette of this morning says: "We are sorry to learn that our old friend Dick Chiles is going to Louisville to live, having received an appointment in the office of the Willard Hotel. His prompt attention and accommodating ways will be greatly missed by the guests of the Phenix. Friend Richard will be a great accession to the Willard, for he has been behind the desk at the Phenix ever since he was tall enough to chin it, and few persons in Kentucky but know him, and know that he is one of the most agreeable hotel attaches ever came in contact with. We are sorry to lose him, but hope it may prove to his personal advantage to make the change."

The Croxton Trial.

Only four jurors for the trial of Joseph Croxton have thus far been obtained. It is doubtful whether a jury of residents of Louisville can be found. Such difficulty in obtaining a jury was never before experienced in the history of the Criminal Court of Jefferson county. No doubt now remains but that the county—that is, outside the city limits—will have to be resorted to before a jury can be found eligible to try this case. An order to this effect will most likely be issued by the court this afternoon. All but the four already sworn in to serve on the jury, who have been examined, declared that they have formed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner, and of course were discharged. From present indications, it is difficult to even predict when the trial will actually commence; and after it does commence, it will most probably be a long and tedious case, as the evidence will be lengthy and the number of witnesses large.

Excitement on Market Street.

At about 11 o'clock last night, a furor was created among the peaceable citizens on Market street, between Eighth and Ninth. Those who were already awake were startled, and those sleeping were awakened by loud cries of "Murder!" issuing from a house in the above locality. The cries were evidently those of a female in great distress. Several gentlemen undertook to investigate the cause of the terrible screams, and succeeded in ascertaining that a man (we mean brute) was whipping his wife in a most ferocious manner, and she was afraid he would kill her. We failed, however, to learn of any arrest being made in consequence.

The Southern Argus.

This is the title of a large and handsome paper which recently made its appearance at Selma, Ala. The editor is Col. Robert McKee, a gentleman of splendid abilities and much experience as a journalist, and whose many friends in this State will gladly welcome his new paper to their hearts and homes. The Southern Argus is a beautiful sheet. It is printed on fine white paper, with clear open type, and contains thirty columns of choice reading matter. It is mailed to subscribers at $3 a year. Col. McKee's enterprise deserves the most abundant success, and we hope it will receive it.

Colored Pioneers.

The Sunday-school teachers and pupils of the Fifth-street Colored Baptist Church, attracted considerable notice as they paraded down Jefferson street this morning. They are picnicking in a grove below the city, near the river, to-day.

Newcomb's Minstrels.

Let everybody remember that the celebrated Newcomb's Minstrels open at Weisiger Hall on Monday evening, for three nights only. Reserved seats for sale at Will. S. Hays' music store on Fourth street.

The Trial of Mowers and Reapers.

The great trial of field machines, which has been progressing for the past four days, terminated on Friday. The judges, it is expected, after having examined the moving demo yesterday, will give their decision to-day. It has, on the whole, been the most important trial ever held in the Southwest, and fully justified the wisdom of those who projected it. We give place to a brief mention of a few of the most prominent machines.

THE BUCKEYE.

This machine has been prominently before the American people for the past ten years, and has undoubtedly the best general reputation of any in the market. It is manufactured at more than a dozen different points. The two principal points, however, are Canton and Akron, Ohio, at which points the companies have two of the most extensive and well-appointed factories in America. The Buckeye is as portable as a gig, and can be moved with as much facility as any wheeled vehicle. It also has a flexible cutter-bar, which will mow or reap with the machine at a horizontal and the knife at a perpendicular. It has been used in every State of the Union, and has received more than five hundred first premiums. The Buckeye is built as a combined machine, and is adapted to either a drop-hand or self-rake. The latter is one of the most complete devices in use, and reflects the highest credit on the mechanical skill of L. Miller, Esq., one of the firm, who perfected it. The Buckeye is really a "farmer's friend," and the successful manner in which it performed the past week dispelled any doubts as to its great superiority. Our well-known agricultural implement dealers, Messrs. Pitkin, Wiard & Co., are the general agents for this vicinity. They have reason to be proud of the high encomiums passed on the Buckeye by farmers and others the past week.

In connection with this machine, we would state that Captain John Earnshaw added interest to the trial by the great skill he displayed in operating the Buckeye. Capt. E. is one of the firm of Wiard & Co., agricultural dealers, Cincinnati, Ohio, and is one of the most enlightened men known in the business. He is one of the early friends of the Buckeye, and has safely carried it through many a hotly contested trial.

THE RUSSELL MOWER AND REAPER.

Mr. Ruble, of Ruble & Welford, agents for the sale of this machine in the South, had one on trial. The Russell is built at Massillon, Ohio, and is one of the standard machines of the country. A farmer, who has used one for eight years, on a rough farm, remarked to the writer: "It will be a machine after all in the market are done and worn out." There is no disputing the fact that it is really a valuable machine. The material used in its construction are of the best quality. The shafting and cutter bar are of the celebrated cold rolled, made by Jones & Laughlin, Pittsburgh, Pa., and the steel from the superior steel made by Anderson, Cook & Co., of the same city. The Russell is a combined machine, and used either with rake or dropper attachment. It made excellent work in reaping, cutting wet lodged grain with ease. In moving it was also successful, but met with a slight accident on encountering some heavy obstacle during the excitement of the trial, which temporarily deranged it. It soon rallied, and satisfied all present of its merits as a good machine.

Our enterprising agricultural dealers, Messrs. John Duffy & Son, are the agents in this city for this machine; also for Russell's thresher and separator, and other leading improvements. Every article they sell is of the best quality, and will stand the test of trial and usage.

THE WOOSTER SELF-RAKER.

In noting the number of excellent machines which have so creditably competed for the prizes during the past week, the above comes in for well-earned and well-deserved credit. It is manufactured at Wooster, Wayne county, Ohio, by the old and reliable firm of McDonald & Co., who have an extensive factory and are provided with every improvement known in the mode of manufacturing calculated to save time and labor. The senior member of the firm is one of the most enlightened mechanics in the West, and has had years of experience in the machine business. He has made several important improvements in field machinery, and has from time to time selected the best patterns and patents, which he has turned to good account for farmers. The self-rake is without doubt one of the most ingenious and at the same time simple devices ever presented to the agricultural public, and is really a "farmer's friend." There is nothing about it complicated and it works with as much facility and uniform regularity as the hands of a well regulated clock. Indeed, it resembles in its workings human hands and human arms, and is both a labor saver and ground saver. We saw the very heaviest of wet, lodged grain cut and deposited in gables without choking or clogging, and straight at the butts. The draught required is light and the machine is easy on both driver and team. The gables are deposited to the side entirely out of the road for the subsequent round, which is not the case with many other devices for the same purpose. It is a combined machine and readily changed from a mower to a reaper and reversely.

Our well-known machine and implement dealers, Messrs. Bondurant & Todd, are the agents, and have sold large numbers, all of which have given satisfaction. Farmers of Kentucky and others who have used the machine in question, uniformly certify to its merits. Indeed, wherever it has been introduced it has given the most unqualified satisfaction, and our worthy dealers have been fortunate in securing the agency of so valuable a machine.

REYNOLDS' MOWING AND REAPING SECTIONS. There is no manufacturer of implements but who will concede that the most important part of a machine is the section or cutting surface. It has always been difficult to get heavy or gleaming temper. This and other objections have been overcome by Mr. Reynolds, of Reynolds, Barber & Co., Auburn, Ky., who has perfected a section that will carry an edge longer and stand more grinding without interfering with the temper. These sections are made of a material that will not back nor soften, either by usage or grinding, will last longer and make a smoother cut than any in use. They are warranted and are highly recommended by all who have used them. Mr. H. C. Arnold is general agent, and has met with very favorable success with our machine men.

THE WELCOME HORSE RACE.

Among the field implements at the late trial, the tooth horse rake, manufactured by W. W. Wallace, Pittsburg, Pa., received high encomiums. It is self-acting—a child twelve years old can operate it. It is for getting hay or cleaning grain fields. It exceeds anything ever introduced. It was highly commended by the committee and farmers who examined it. The rake can be seen at the agricultural store of Pitkin, Wiard & Co., of this city.

THE LATE JOHN O'CONNELL.

Meeting of the Police Force and Police Association, Saturday Evening, His Funeral This Morning.

The particulars of the sad occurrence on Floyd street night before last have been given to the public in detail. Hence we need not recount them.

The Police Union, a most praiseworthy society, and of which John O'Connell was an esteemed member, held a meeting at their hall yesterday evening, when the following preamble and resolutions were passed by the Union:

WHEREAS, It has pleased divine Providence to send a grievous affliction upon the friends of the Police Union generally in the death of our brother, John O'Connell, who fell upon the night of the 1st of July, 1869, from a shot fired by a brother officer in mistake, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the police mourn the bereavement they have sustained in the sudden decease of their friend and brother.

Resolved, That we tender to the relatives and friends of our deceased brother, John O'Connell, our deep and heartfelt sympathy for the irreparable loss they have sustained.

Resolved, That in the demise of our brother, John O'Connell, the police force of Louisville have lost an efficient and careful officer; one with whom they experienced pleasure in co-operating, and in the discharge of whose official duties they had every confidence.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be engrossed and signed by the President and Secretary and expounded by some conspicuous portion of the Police Union Hall, and that a similar copy be presented to the friends of our departed brother.

Resolved, That the members of the Police Union wear a badge of mourning for the space of thirty days.

Z. P. McGRATH, Chairman.

Geo. C. Shadburne, Secretary.

MEETING OF THE POLICE.

The following is an official report of a meeting held last night.

At a meeting of the Metropolitan police force, held at the office of the Commissioners July 2, 1869, Robt. Gilchrist, Esq., was called to the chair and G. C. Shadburne was appointed secretary.

and reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased an All-wise Providence to remove from our midst John O'Connell, a brave man, a good officer, and loved and respected by all who knew him. His death was untimely and unexpected, but from his upright conduct we have reason to believe that our loss was his gain. We hope that his path may be strewn with the brightest flowers of Paradise.

Resolved, That we in a body, and in full uniform, attend the funeral of our deceased brother.

Resolved, That we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days in memory of our deceased brother.

Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and resolutions be tendered to his bereaved family, with the assurance that we deeply condole with them, and also that a copy be furnished to each of the daily papers of this city.

ROBERT GILCHRIST, Chairman.

After the adoption of the above resolutions the following was also adopted:

Resolved, By the Metropolitan police force, that in the death of our brother, officer John O'Connell, Esq., who was so suddenly removed from our midst, that we have no reason to reflect upon our grief and distressed brother, James H. Hendricks, who fired the pistol shot through mistake. We deplore our brother's death, and we feel distressed that the levity of some of the police force led to his untimely end. We hope and pray that a like catastrophe may never occur again.

The meeting then adjourned.

ROBT. GILCHRIST, Chairman.

G. C. Shadburne, Secretary.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral services took place at St. John's Catholic Church, corner of Washington and Clay streets. The church was filled with the grieving friends of the deceased. A most touching and brief sermon was delivered; then the remains were taken from the edifice and placed in the waiting hearse, to be borne to their last resting place in the Catholic Cemetery of the West End.

The long procession was headed by a band, which played a sad dirge while the procession moved slowly and solemnly through the streets on its way to the burial place.

Peace to the soul of John O'Connell. Let his epitaph be—"He had no enemies."

KENTUCKY MORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The exhibition of fruits and flowers to-day at the Masonic Temple was fair only in the immediate season. A basket brought by Mrs. O. L. Smith was much admired as, indeed, were several others. The bidding at the sale after the exhibition was, as usual, quite spirited.

Commissioner Delano some time ago applied to the Attorney-General to give directions to United States Marshals in various localities to muster in a posse of assistant marshals to accompany revenue officers in the exercise of their duties in the troublesome districts. The Attorney-General replied that marshals would serve the purpose, but there was no law permitting them to furnish posse, as requested by the Commissioner. Mr. Delano then applied to the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy to furnish soldiers and marines to aid and protect the officers of the revenue in the exercise of their duties. These officers in reply accede to the request of the Commissioner, and will furnish such force as may be necessary. The districts in which assistance is required is at present kept secret.

The World is responsible for the statement that the Hon. George M. Robeson, who has just been appointed Secretary of the navy, subscribed five hundred dollars toward purchasing a house for Gen. Grant. Of course, this must have been the house in Philadelphia. Toward that house Mr. Robeson gave five thousand dollars. It is not disrespectful toward him to appoint as his successor a man who gave only five hundred?—N. Y. Sun.

A MOST REMARKABLE DUEL.

Woman's Rights Rampant—Two Colored Ladies Fight a Duel—A Fatal Result.

From the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch.

One of the most extraordinary duels that it has ever fallen to the lot of Virginia journalists to chronicle was committed in Henrico county on Sunday last. It was a duel in which two negro women were the belligerent parties, and of which jealousy was the moving cause.

There was a man in the case. He was one George Gills, a gay and festive fellow, hand, who, though possessing a dark skin, rejoices in the reputation of a Lothario of the first waters. Until a few months ago Julia Ann Gills, who lives on a neighboring plantation, was the happy possessor of his affections, and although never united by the parson, they were living together, in the slavery fashion, as man and wife.

Like most married people, they were supposed to be happy. The conjugal relation, until one black day when the shining star of Ella Woodson arose upon George's horizon, and this sable beauty won his heart, and he—a naughty man—hung 't'her one's away.

To cut a sad story short, George's amatory advances culminated in the desertion of Julia, his first love, and his taking up with Ella, whose heart he soon had gained. Jealousy was life between the two women. They backbit each other; they sneered; they "jawed"; they quarreled; they threatened; and finally they fought it out on a line rather new in the history of female pugilistic encounters.

On Sunday morning, Julia's wrath boiled over, and no longer able to restrain her temper, she went over to the "negro quarters" on Col. Knight's place, and standing at the door, boldly challenged her rival to a fair fight, with nothing to interfere. Ella promptly took the gauntlet up, and together they went to the duelling ground, without the seconds or surgeons who generally accompany more civilized persons engaged upon such murderous errands.

The spot chosen was a deep ravine, a long distance from any dwelling house, and completely hidden from the view of persons who traveled by the ordinary country roads. Each woman had a good stout walking stick with which they were to fight, though the use of teeth, fists, feet and finger nails was not interdicted by the side by side they walked into the glade, and then, without a moment's parley to agree upon distance or signals, they flew at one another with the fury of enraged wildcats. Sticks were soon abandoned as unwieldy and requiring too long a range of use, and then the combatants closed in, armed only with the weapons God had given them for defense.

They wrestled a moment in silence—one woman with all the hate of an outraged wife bubbling to her finger ends, and the other burning with jealousy and fighting for life itself. Presently they fell to the ground. Ella, though the stronger and strongest, was beneath. By some means one finger of her antagonist's hand got between her teeth, and she bit it to the bone. Then came the death struggle. With her other hand, which was free, Julia, as she adroitly managed, in spite of all resistance, to choke her antagonist, and the breath left her body. This done, she relinquished her hold, and her dusky rival lay dead at her feet.

The murdered enjoyed but for a moment the wicked sweetness of revenge. A sense of her crime and dread of punishment induced her to give the prostrate form one last blow, to make sure that no tales would be told by those icy lips, and then she dragged it toward the ditch, hoping to hide it from human sight. But this design was frustrated by a negro, who, happening to take a short cut through the woods on his way to church, was horror-struck by the sight of a wild-looking woman dragging a corpse through the briery undergrowth in the ravine below him. He gave the alarm at once, and upon his information the negroes who committed the murder were speedily arrested.

A jury of inquest, summoned by order of Justice Woodworth, viewed the body on yesterday morning. Julia made her appearance before the coroner and acknowledged the commission of the bloody deed, gave an account of the circumstances attending it, but claimed that she was persecuted in self-defense. The jury found that the deceased, Ella Woodson, came to her death from wounds and bruises received at the hands of Julia Ann Gills. The accused was brought to town and lodged in a cell at the jail, where she will remain until next Saturday, when her case will be fully investigated by a court of magistrates. The deceased has been decently buried.

REVOLT AT SING SING.

Seizure of a Sloop by Seven Convicts and an Attempt to Escape—The Convicts Fired Upon by the Prison Guards—The Convicts Arrested.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 30, 1869.

There was a rush of convicts to escape at Sing Sing prison shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. They numbered seven in all. It appears that they were engaged in unloading the sloop Martha and Elizabeth of wood. Watching a good opportunity, the whole seven advanced in a body on the vessel and drove off the deck hands, cut the lines, shoved the vessel from the dock, and commenced making sail. At this time the wind was blowing light, and the sloop was headed for the west shore, and had reached a respectable distance from the dock when the alarm was given and a panic ensued among the officers and guards, who had advanced to the end of the pier and commenced firing with great rapidity upon the escaping convicts. Seeing the force sent for their capture, and being afraid to risk their bodies on deck, five of the convicts retreated to the cabin of the vessel, while the other two remained on deck and continued their attempts to hoist the sail.

The bullets from carbines whistled about them, and finally one was seen to fall. Here a small boat drew up alongside the dock, into which several prison officials sprang, and were soon rowing towards the vessel, the sails of which had fallen as the sloop was being hoisted. As the vessel and found the convict who had fallen lying prostrate, with a dangerous wound in his breast. The bullet had penetrated the right breast and passed out of the left.

The convicts below were called up one by one, bound hand and foot, and the vessel was put about, arriving back at the prison dock in a few moments, when Drake (the name of the wounded convict) was taken to the hospital and the other convicts were put in close confinement. None of the rest were wounded, though the vessel's sails and woodwork were perforated with bullets. The affair caused much excitement, but to-night everything is quiet.

THE CAPTURED CUBANS.

Colonel Byron's Expedition Pursued and Overtaken in Long Island Sound.

The Men Brought to the Navy-Yard in a Half-Famished Condition.

The Eight Hundred Men in Buckram Dwindled to One Hundred and Forty.

From the N. Y. Times, Thursday.

Lively excitement was caused at the Brooklyn Navy-yard early yesterday morning by the arrival of two United States revenue cutters, having in convoy two tugboats with a portion of the Cuban expedition on board. The vessels made their arrival just before daylight, and anchored off Cobb Dock. It soon transpired that the filibusters were captured in Long Island Sound, near Fort Schuyler, on Tuesday evening, in a nearly famished condition, not having tasted food of any consequence for two days.

THE PURSUIT.

According to the account of the officers of the revenue cutters Mahoning and McCulloch, they were ordered to proceed up Long Island Sound on Tuesday afternoon in pursuit of the Cuban expedition, which was reported to have left this city for Gardiner's Island, on the Long Island coast, and within short distance of the ocean. A recruit who descended from the United States Marshal and United States District Attorney with the information which led to the pursuit. He said that three tugboats lay off the island named the H. D. Coole, Jonathan Chase and Wm. H. Webb, which carried troops who were about to sail for the invasion of Cuba, and that they were waiting for the appearance

The Irish Church Bill.

The foreign mails bring accounts in detail of the mass meetings held by the Conservatives in England to express their hostility to Mr. Gladstone's Irish Church bill. The demonstration at the Pomona Gardens, Manchester, on Saturday, June 12th, was very imposing. The procession, composed of delegates from the county of Lancashire, was over two hours passing a given point, and it is estimated was composed of over 25,000 persons. Admission to the gardens was obtained by tickets freely distributed, and speakers were stationed at eight platforms. The crowd in the gardens at any one time is placed at thirty thousand, though the demonstration committee assert that 200,000 tickets of admission had been issued in Manchester and Salford alone. The Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Company also reported that on June 11th they had disposed of over forty thousand tickets and had been obliged to appropriate thirty locomotives from the luggage trains to bring in the cars filled with Conservatives from North and East Lancashire. The resolutions adopted at the meeting were remarkable for the opinions expressed on the political questions at issue. The first resolution asserted that the obligation imposed by the Queen's coronation oath was not a mere compact between the sovereign and the people, revocable at pleasure, but a most solemn pledge to the Almighty, from which the Legislature has no right to release. The second resolution, after protesting against the Irish Church bill, declared the determination of the Conservatives to uphold the Legislative Union between Great Britain and Ireland so long as the spirit of the compact is respected by the British Parliament, but also asserted that if the fifth article of the Treaty of Union be repealed, the Conservatives would be forced to regard the Union as dissolved. The singular spectacle is here presented of the Tory party becoming as strong repealers as O'Connell.

Of the late removal of Annie Surratt's husband, the Washington special of the New York Herald says: "It appears that Mr. Toney, late a chemist in the Surgeon General's office, and said to have been removed because he married Miss Annie Surratt, was notified shortly before his marriage that he would be sent to the Northwest with the commission to take solar observations during the coming eclipse in August. In fact, he had made preparations to go, and was, therefore, greatly surprised when, on his return from a brief honeymoon trip, he was presented with a letter of dismissal, assigning no cause whatever therefor. Mr. Toney and his friends are firm in the belief that he was certainly removed solely because of his marriage with Miss Surratt."

As iron foundry at Mahony City, Schuylkill county, Pa., was the scene of a fatal occurrence last week. Some of the workmen endeavored to separate an old piston from a piece of machinery with which it was connected, but it was so much rusted that they could not separate it in the ordinary way. To facilitate the operation they took it into the blacksmith shop to heat the iron. While the workmen were holding it in the fire it exploded. A fragment of the iron struck George Lee, foreman of the blacksmith shop, injuring him so severely that he died shortly after the occurrence. David Little, foreman of the foundry, and a man named Kline were severely injured, but will recover.

SEVENTEEN thousand nine hundred and nineteen names appear on the roll of income tax-payers in New York city. A. T. Stewart makes the largest return, $3,019,218; William B. Astor is next, having an income of $1,079,212, and no one else comes up to half a million; only two or three of them, indeed, exceed a quarter of a million. Almost every one of a list of sixty-seven rich men commenced life poor, and has made his own fortune. The largest returns made by newspaper men are those of the Bennetts, senior and junior. The former returns $186,500, and the latter $45,000. The income of the late H. J. Raymond was $25,150.

THE San Francisco Morning Call says the experiment of tea culture is to be made in California by those acquainted with the business, on a scale to fully test its practicability. Agents of a Japanese colony have purchased land in the foot hills of El Dorado county, which the Japanese think is well adapted for silk and tea culture. If they are not mistaken there are many thousands of acres of land in that State which can be devoted to the purposes mentioned, and the day may yet come when California will be as noted for its teas and silks as it has been for its gold.

THE colossal equestrian statue of Washington, from the Ames Manufacturing Company in Chicopee, is standing on its pedestal in the Public Garden, in Boston, and will probably be unveiled to-day, without any ceremonies. The statue is sixteen feet in height above the pedestal, and has been eighteen months in preparation from the time the plaster moulds were sent to the foundry. It weighs about five tons. The color of the statue is a light bronze.

The "very latest" from the canvass in Tennessee is conveyed in the following Nashville special, of yesterday, to the Cincinnati Gazette: "The candidates for Governor met at London to-day, and had their usual tussle. To-morrow, at Chattanooga, they close their engagements in East Tennessee. The debate at London was not numerously attended, but the monotony was varied by a personal incident. Stokes was severely denouncing Senter and Brownlow, when General J. Brownlow stepped upon the stage and said he was personally responsible for his father. Stokes assured him that nothing personal was intended. Senter was received with much enthusiasm at Chattanooga to-night, and serenaded by a great crowd. The discussion between him and Stokes at that point to-morrow will doubtless be an exciting one."

A WASHINGTON special of the 30th ult. says: There is still much anxiety to ascertain the nature of the interview which took place between Mr. Thornton, the English Minister, and Senator Roberts, the Spanish Minister, one day last week, but as yet nothing definite is known, although it is supposed to have related to the course pursued by this government on the Cuban question. A great deal of significance is attached to the result of this interview, and nothing has occurred of late which has excited so much interest in diplomatic circles.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard has opened the Presidential campaign of 1872 by nominating the following remarkable ticket:

FOR PRESIDENT,
ULYSSES S. GRANT, of Illinois.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
WM. W. HOLDEN, of North Carolina.

As the Radical candidates will inevitably be defeated at the next election, this ticket, miserable as it is, will do as well as any other.

GENERAL CHAMBERLAIN, the present Radical Governor of Maine, has been renominated. There has been considerable talk of a second nomination, but whether any action will be taken remains to be seen. Hon. Sidney Perham was supported by the temperance men, and should another convention be called, he will probably be nominated. He was a member of the last Congress. The Democrats, as already announced, have nominated Gen. Franklin Smith.

The Danville Advocate of yesterday says: "Bird Dethridge, one of the oldest citizens of Madison county, Kentucky, died on Monday last, in the eighty-eight year of his age. In August, 1863, he attempted to vote for Governor in Richmond precinct, but was prevented on account of rebel sympathy. He was heard to say on that occasion that he had voted at that place for sixty consecutive years, and it was hard that he must now be thus repulsed."

As American student at the Freiberg Mining Academy created, on the 18th of May, a great sensation in Saxony, by starting on a velocipede journey from Dresden to Paris. The peasants on the route had never seen a velocipede before, and some of the women and children were very much frightened at its appearance. In one small city of Saxony he was arrested for traveling without license as a mountebank and juggler.

UNDER the free railroad law of that State not less than a dozen important railroads are constructing in New York, developing productive regions heretofore isolated, thereby adding largely to the wealth of the State. The Midland Railroad, from Oswego to New York, is one of the heaviest and most important in progress anywhere at present. It is being vigorously prosecuted.

The Cuban expedition, brought to grief at New York the other day, is said to have cost from $250,000 to $600,000. The arrival of this expedition in Cuba would have strengthened the cause of the insurgents very greatly, and its failure will prove a severe blow to their cause. The total force—men, arms, ammunition, everything—lies now in the Brooklyn navy yard, a prize to a revenue cutter.

THAT mysterious thing, the appointment of Mr. George M. Robeson to the position of Secretary of the Navy, has at last been explained. It turns out that he subscribed five hundred dollars towards purchasing a house for Grant. Borie gave five thousand dollars for that purpose, and the New York Sun thinks it is disrespectful toward him to appoint as his successor a man who gave only five hundred.

THREE tons of solid silver in bricks, weighing from 1,500 to 1,504 ounces each, were recently shipped from Georgetown, Colorado, to Chicago. These bricks were packed in sealed leather sacks; one, however, was uncovered, and was stamped as weighing 125 pounds 2 ounces, and as worth $1,302.

MISS SHEDDEN, an English lady, was lately admitted to plead her own case which had been carried up to the House of Lords, by an appeal. She spoke for fourteen days, and then, not being yet done, she fainted from exhaustion. The Lords, too, were exhausted.

HEXICUTT, the Virginia scallawag, who has done so much harm in that State, by his violent Radical course, has come out squarely upon the platform enunciated by Senter in Tennessee, and is canvassing Southwestern Virginia in aid of the Conservative cause.

The Cincinnati Commercial says it is one of the beauties of the appointment of Robeson that it tears open an old sore in the Republican party of New Jersey. Influential Republicans are already getting up a case to prevent his confirmation by the Senate.

An India rubber belt four feet wide, 320 feet long, and weighing 3,600 pounds, has recently been manufactured for a grain elevator at Buffalo. It is said to be the largest belt in the United States.

Daniel E. Sickles.
A week or two ago a number of prominent citizens of New York tendered Daniel E. Sickles, the embodied insult which Grant offers to Spain, a public reception at the Everett House in that city. Sickles accepted the compliment, and the reception took place last Wednesday evening. In the world of that morning appears a history of the life and adventures of Grant's Minister to Spain, the character of which may be inferred from the following which heads it in large letters:

"Daniel E. Sickles: public reception of our new Minister to Spain; some account of him; his career as rowdy, mail-robbler, spy, murderer, confidence-man, 'General,' satrap, politician, &c.; example for young Americans; noble instance of the success of a scoundrel in American politics; the dinner idea given up; a reception to be given to-night without meat or drink, &c., &c., &c."

The biography which follows this suggestive title is something over seven columns in length, and opens with this summing-up of its contents:

In the World of a recent date we took occasion to review the life of one of the most remarkable men of our times, viz: Daniel E. Sickles, United States Minister to Spain. That brief biographical sketch was shown, the career of the New York ward politician, who picked up his education in the slums and back streets, and put it to the first remunerative use in stuffing ballot-boxes, and "running primaries;" who, later, grew from political rascality to the most daring practice of monetary frauds, for which he was successively indicted; whose popularity among the roughs and rowdies procured for him an election to the State Assembly; who took with him to Albany, and introduced into the Assembly Chamber, an abandoned woman named Fanny Wheeler, who, after the breaking out of the rebellion, seized an opportunity to avail his multitudinous sins under a guise of apparent ultra patriotism; whose association with the raising of a brigade in this city for the service was, that he had successfully to do with its expenses, which were borne by others, and that he afterwards commanded it; whose chief military exploits at Gettysburg were, that he nearly lost the battle by a blunder; needlessly lost the army hundreds of lives, and lost himself a leg; who was appointed military satrap in South Carolina when the reconstruction act passed Congress, and marked his administration by high-handed, mean and specious acts of tyranny; who was removed by President Johnson and, while still drawing pay as an officer in the army, traversed the country, making political speeches for President Grant; who now has his reward—the mission to the proudest, most punctilious nation in the Old World.

INSPECTOR-GENERAL MARCY reports that where the Indians have been allowed peaceable possession of their lands, they have done very well, and his opinion is, that these lands should not be on any national thoroughfare.

THE Reuter Telegraph Company, it is announced, has been awarded an indemnity of $3,630,000 under the law of Great Britain, by which the government has taken possession of the telegraph lines.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE is going to the White Sulphur Springs, Virginia, a place which is becoming quite noted as a haunt of politicians.

REVERDY JOHNSON, who was in Washington the other day, denies that the report of his political views, lately made by an "interviewing" reporter, is correct.

THE Prince of Wales has lately won $25,000 in betting on some of the English races.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Season of Exhaustion.
No matter how vigorous by nature the system and the constitution may be, they must necessarily suffer from the effects of the summer season, unless strengthened and sustained by wholesome tonic treatment. The extra pressure upon the vital forces must be met and counterbalanced by an extra resistant power; the untimely and rapid consumption of the animal fluids by profuse perspiration, must be compensated by the prompt and judicious assimilation of the food taken into the stomach, from which both the fluids and the solid parts of the body are derived. The physical structure declines, and the mind, sympathizing with the machinery through which it acts, becomes depressed and enervated. A STRONG TONIC is therefore absolutely required at this season—not a violent one, calculated to produce febrile excitement, but something which will recruit and re-enforce the whole organization in proportion to the extraordinary drain which the hot weather subjects it. This desideratum is supplied in a palatable and most efficient form, in Dr. WINTER'S TONIC SIRUP, which the people of this country, after more than twenty-five years' experience, have accepted and indorsed as the best tonic, alterative and anti-bilious preparation which medical chemistry has yet succeeded in obtaining from the strengthening, healing and purifying products of the vegetable kingdom. Every ingredient of this famous compound has its own specific virtue, and the result of their combination is the most genial invigorant, aperient and cathartic ever compounded, either as a preventive or cure of the disorders most common in our various climates. These may be enumerated dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, fever and ague, nervous debility, and all the ailments proceeding from imperfect digestion. A course of HOS- TETTER'S BITTERS is the best possible safeguard against the dangers which menace persons of both sexes, and all ages, during the heated term. j33 ft

FOR EVERY FORM OF

THE CURE IS PERMANENT.
The Chill Once Broken Will

Contains No Quinine or Arsenic, nor Any Deleterious Substance Whatever.

This preparation is carefully compounded of purely vegetable ingredients, and never fails, when properly taken, to cure the most obstinate case of fever and ague, neuralgia, and all malarious diseases. Unlike chill remedies generally, it requires no purgative to be taken with it, the medicine itself acting gently and agreeably upon the liver and bowels, effectually removing the cause of the disease, not merely temporarily checking it. Herein consists one great advantage it has over all other preparations. The crowning excellence of this remedy, however, above the permanency and certainty of its cure, is the fact that no injury whatever can arise from its use, as is certain to be the case when quinine or arsenic are taken, which are the principal ingredients of most of the chill medicines now in use. Quinine, acting upon the nervous system, produces, according to our best authorities, "a feeling of tightness or distension of the head, ringing, buzzing or roaring in the ears, partial deafness," &c., and, when the dose is increased, "complete deafness, diminution or loss of sight, dilated or immovable pupil, coma, and great prostration."

Wintersmith's Tonic Sirup leaves the system in a perfectly healthy condition, with no bad effects in any way to be worn off.

Another great virtue claimed for this medicine, and wherein consists its superiority over other medicines, is that the cure is permanent. It rarely requires more than a day or two to effectually break the chill, and, once broken, they will not return.

Hundreds of letters are daily received testifying to the efficacy and wonderful virtues of this remedy. It is very popular wherever sold, taking the place of any other remedy it comes in competition with.

LOUISVILLE.
SATURDAY, JULY 3, 1892.
CONJUGAL MISERY.
Four Parties Divorced by Chancellor Cochran Yesterday.
His Opinion at Length in the Gray Case.

There is no doubt that the divorce market, and as a consequence, the Chancellor's Court, is a busy place. Four parties have been divorced by Chancellor Cochran yesterday.

GRAY VS. GRAY.
The most important case of the four, indeed the only singular and interesting case that ever came up in the Chancellor's Court, was that of Lucy Gray against William M. Gray, with the peculiar merits of which the reader of this paper is conversant. It will be remembered that C. R. W. Woolfe, as Chancellor pro tem, recently declined to grant the petitioner's prayer. Judge Cochran, in the following decree, has conferred upon Mrs. Gray the boon of freedom for which she and her friends have so anxiously and persistently striven.

The ground relied on in this case for a divorce is "habitual behavior toward the wife by the husband, for not less than one year, such as to constitute a cruel and inhuman manner as to indicate a settled aversion to her, and to destroy permanently her peace and happiness."

The case relied on must be established to entitle the plaintiff to the relief asked for. And, in addition, it should appear that the plaintiff was in like fault, relief ought to be denied her. The legal question made in the able brief of counsel for defendant as to the propriety of the cruel and inhuman behavior, contemplated by the statute, will be first considered. It is argued that cruel and inhuman behavior is not a legal term, and that it is a mere synonym for adultery. In support of this the idea of bodily harm is introduced. In support of this the case of Evans vs. Evans is cited, in which the husband, in which case the court defined the legal meaning of cruelty as a cause of divorce. And according to the opinion of the court, which is not questioned, cruelty by the husband implies among other things, danger to the wife.

There is also Kentucky authority to the same effect. It must be borne in mind, however, that the word "cruel" is not a legal term, but a word of common usage. It is a word which is used in a variety of meanings. Our statute does not say "cruel and inhuman behavior," but "cruel and inhuman manner as to indicate a settled aversion to her, and to destroy permanently her peace and happiness."

That such a case is not without any fear of danger or grounds of fear the court does not for a moment doubt. In applying the law to any given case, the court is not to be guided by the general language of the statute, but by the facts of the case.

FOREIGN.

THE NEW CABLE ALL RIGHT.
DREXEL, July 2.—Communication with the Great Eastern through the cable was restored at noon to-day. Dispatches received from her explain the suspension of communication as follows: A fault was discovered in the cable on Wednesday and the Great Eastern was obliged to stop to locate and remove it. A heavy gale prevailed, and in order to avoid the probability of serious accident to the cable, it was decided to cut and bury it, which was successfully done. The weather to-day having become fine, the cable was recovered, the fault removed, and the work of paying out recommenced. All well on board. At noon to-day the Great Eastern was in latitude 47 degrees 55 minutes, longitude 30 degrees.

ROME.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.
LONDON, July 2.—It is rumored that the Ecumenical Council at Rome is to be postponed for a year.

ENGLAND.

HER RELATIONS WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES.
LONDON, July 2.—The Times says no reason for the withdrawal of the relations between Great Britain and foreign countries. The most important matters to business men are the state of relations with America on the one hand, and the present condition of France. The Alabama difficulty is now threatening more than a year or so since. Johnson's negotiations demonstrate England's unwillingness to make reasonable concessions. Henceforth it is impossible to believe in the grievance from her acts or demeanor. Americans feel this and have no desire to push the question in a hostile manner.

THE IRISH CHURCH.
LONDON, July 2.—The House of Lords to-night continued the consideration of the Irish church bill in committee. Clauses 25 and 26 were agreed to.

THE DUKES OF SALISBURY MOVED TO STRIKE OUT CLAUSE 27. which requires that payments be made for retention of ecclesiastical residences by churches.

The Duke of Cleveland moved an amendment authorizing grants to Catholics and Presbyterians.

After a long debate the House divided, and the amendment was lost by a vote of 113 to 146.

A NEW CHURCH BILL.
LONDON, July 2.—A meeting of Peers was held yesterday to arrange the committee on a new Irish church bill and to frame amendments to the pending bill. Earl Russell, Baron Westbury, Earl Grey and others agreed to follow the lead of the Duke of Cleveland.

CAB DRIVERS ON A STRIKE.
There has been a strike of cab drivers, who objected to the new regulations requiring them to be uniformed and to give tickets to passengers. The strike caused much inconvenience.

SPAIN.

A REPUBLICAN MANIFESTO.
MADRID, July 2.—The Republican Junta of New Castile has issued a manifesto against the reactionary policy of a portion of the ministry, and their disregard of individual rights. The manifesto recommends a reorganization, and affirms the right of insurrection.

A NEW MINISTRY.
MADRID, July 2.—It is rumored that Senor Revilla, President of the Cortes, is likely to be called upon to form a new ministry.

Several official communications have passed between Gen. De Rodas, the new Captain-General of Cuba, and the home government by cable, relative to Cuban affairs, and their progress has been made public.

WASHINGTON.

The Purport of Gen. Sickles' Instructions.

Intercession in the Affairs of Cuba.

Conservative Prospects in Virginia.

MEDICATION IN CUBAN AFFAIRS.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—General Sickles, it is learned, took most important instructions to the Minister to Spain yesterday on matters relating to the Cuban question. These were agreed on at the Cabinet meeting on Tuesday, and so desirous was the President that the subject should be kept secret, that the Minister went over to New York that night and delivered them in person on Wednesday to Sickles. Of course the details of these instructions are not known yet out of official circles, but the object can be safely stated as an attempt on the part of the administration to put an end to further bloodshed in Cuba by offering friendly intercession. This is said to be in such a shape that there is little doubt but Spain will accept. However, this inference is speculation, but the fact of the offer cannot be disputed.

PROMINENT RADICAL POLITICIANS OF VIRGINIA.

are beginning to give up the chances of Wells' election. There are several causes for this. First, the nominee for Governor on the Wells ticket is a negro, and if the ticket is elected Wells will be likely to go to the Senate, and the negro will step into the gubernatorial chair, and Virginia don't want that. Second, the Walker ticket is one of the most popular men in the State, and will bring thousands of votes to Walker. He will carry the valley counties of the State by immense majorities. Third, the negro voters are not all enthusiastic as to Wells, and will stay at home in large numbers.

CINCINNATI.

Base Ball—The Little Eagles Whip the Buckeye, Jr., Club—Louisville Excursionists.

CINCINNATI, July 2.—The Eagles beat the Buckeye, Jr., to-day in one of the closest and most exciting games ever played upon the Buckeye grounds. The score was even—13 to 13—at the close of the fifth inning and continued nearly so until the ninth inning, when the clubs were again tied—19 to 19. Amidst the most intense excitement, by a beautiful play in the next inning, the Eagles made two runs and white-washed the Buckeyes, thus winning by a score of 21 to 19 runs. Leonard, of the Red Stockings, was Umpire.

To-morrow morning the Eagles play the Cincinnati, and to-morrow afternoon the Red Stockings play the Olympics, of Washington, D. C. The latter club will be in Louisville on next Tuesday to play the Kentucky Club.

The School Board arrived safe to day on the excursion train from Louisville, via Covington.

CHICAGO.

Fate of the Powell Expedition—Statement of the Survivor—Names of the Lost.

CHICAGO, July 2.—A special from Springfield, Illinois, says that John A. Risdon, sole survivor of the Powell expedition, arrived in that city this morning, and he tells the following story, of which there can be no doubt of its truth:

On the 8th of last May, the Major, with 30 men, attempted to cross the Colorado river in a small boat about 100 miles from the canon for the purpose of exploring the Big Bend river, which empties into the Colorado at that point. When about 30 yards from the shore, gliding along on the apparently smooth water, the boat was seen to enter a vortex which at once engulfed it, and not one of the party which left the shore a few moments before, having been left in the water, was seen afterward.

He had been left in charge of the team and baggage belonging to the party, and was to have gone back to the shore to meet the party in two days. He remained some time in the vicinity of the catastrophe, and then went around and below the rapids, with a hope of discovering some of the missing party. He looked for the boat, saw floating some distance in the stream, the Major's satchel, which contained the notes of the expedition. He swam into the stream and recovered it.

After remaining three days on the lookout he started for Leroy, a military post 170 miles distant from that point, on the Colorado, bringing with him the baggage, etc., belonging to the party, which was shipped by Major Smith, the commandant of the post, to La Salle. Major Smith also sent out an expedition to examine the river and to recover some of the bodies, which returned after a fruitless search.

The expedition was to have returned this fall, and was composed of the following gentlemen: Maj. Powell, of Bloomington; Wm. and Charles Duley, Z. W. Smith, and Andrew Knox, of Hennip; David Sellers, Thomas Mooney, Chas. Sullivan, Fred. Buchanan, of LaSalle; Fred. Myers, Wm. Smith, William Andrews, George Thomas, and Wm. Sherman, of Bureau Junction; Thos. Stockton, of Normal; three men from Bloomington, two half-breeds, guides, and John A. Risdon, of LaSalle, who is now here, and my informant.

RICHMOND.

Colored Barbecue—Fatal Accident—Three Men Killed and Several Fatally Wounded.

RICHMOND, July 2.—The barbecue given to-day by Vanuxem's band, and conducted by a candidate for the Senate, was instantly killed; also policeman Kirkham, who was on duty to prevent the crowd from rushing on the bridge.

A large crowd had congregated at the gate of the bridge leading to the island, but were kept off by the police. Col. Branch, who was managing the affair, was standing on the bridge directed the police to admit the crowd, which being done the weight broke the structure, precipitating a number into the water.

Survivors, policeman Kirkham, ex-policeman Ashley were caught in the falling timbers and killed. Seven other persons were wounded, two of whom will die. The body of Colonel Branch was allowed to his residence by a procession of prominent citizens, and the police escorted Mr. Kirkham's remains home. Col. Branch was one of the first business men of the city. His life is pervaded by general gloom in consequence of the calamity.

For several months past a young man who had been a boarder in a private family in Troy, N. Y., has paid some attention to a daughter, escorting her to the theater and to church on one or two occasions. There had, however, been no love-making on either part. About two weeks ago the father of the young lady came suddenly into the room where she and her mother were sitting, and said to her: "Go and get ready; you are going to get married in an hour." The mother confirmed the statement, and told her to go for a lady friend of hers, living near by, to stand up with her. The girl asked to whom she was to be married. The father answered, "To Henry" (the boarder before mentioned). The girl took it as a joke, and went for her friend. When she came back a minister was present, and in less than ten minutes the ceremony was over. She sought relief from the marriage, alleging that she was so confused and surprised that she did not know what she was about, and that she was married to the young man without her consent.

THE CUBAN EXPEDITION UNDER COL. RYAN SAFELY EMBARKED.

A Ruse de Guerre—The Marshal Captured a Merchant Steamer and Left the Expedition Escape—Further Particulars of their Departure.

From the New York Sun, 29th ult.

All hail, free Cuba! Three cheers for the patriotic recruits of the Cuban Junta, now steaming their way down the coast to aid in the spread of freedom and republicanism.

The circumstantial account printed in the Sun yesterday of the departure of the expedition under Col. Ryan, which has been so long in preparation, has created a profound sensation. The valiant Gen. Barlow, the efficient United States Marshal, having succeeded in capturing a peaceable merchant steamer, the Catharine Whiting, loaded with hay, corn and straw, and destined for Galveston, would have believed that all Cuban expeditions are at an end, and that nothing further is possible.

That distinguished officer, who so frequently has been lauded as the inefficacy of our blockade squadron, during the expedition, and pointed out so clearly the manner in which the Southern ports could be effectually closed, attempted to seal the port of New York against the departure of this expedition. With two or three regular revenue cutters, and as many more private steamers temporarily transformed into armed cruisers, and with the full knowledge of the intended sailing of this expedition poured into his ears by the myriads of Spanish spies that infest this city, he patrolled the Lower Bay and the waters of Saturday night, and succeeded in capturing one merchant steamer bound for Texas, while seven and eight hundred Cuban volunteers embarked on two tugs, passed his blockade and proceeded a short distance down the coast, where they were met by the swift steamer Quaker City, to whose deck the party was quickly and safely transferred, and are now, doubtless, below Hatteras, on their way to their destination. True, the Marshal overhauled these tugs, but supposing that he had their transport in the steamer Catharine Whiting, allowed them to proceed. Thus was the blockade broken, and the Cuban expedition is now on its way to its destination. The Cuban expedition is now on its way to its destination. The Cuban expedition is now on its way to its destination.

The stage of water at this point continues to grow less from day to day, though the prospects are very favorable for a little rise out of the Kentucky river, which is reported to be in a high tide and rising fast. Some of the upper tributaries of the Ohio river are also running out rapidly, together with the recent rise at Pittsburgh, may give us a fair stage of water over the falls during next week. At noon to-day there were but six feet water in the canal, and four feet in the chute over the falls. The weather to-day is clear and very warm—real summer weather. At nine o'clock this morning the thermometer ranged at 84 in the shade.

The Richmond arrived here during last night. She had a light trip of freight. She had 165 passengers for this point, including a lot of Cuban refugees. She is advertised to return to New Orleans next Tuesday.

The R. E. Lee departed for New Orleans yesterday evening, with a fair trip to start. She has sufficient freight engagements below to fill her up.

Captain Wm. Phillips left for Cincinnati yesterday evening by mail; and Capt John B. Archer left on the Morning Star to spend the "glorious Fourth" with his friends in Cannelton. The Morning Star had a big trip of excursionists.

The new mail line steamer Ben Franklin steamed up the river this morning about ten or fifteen miles. But a few persons were aboard of her. Her running, after she got under full headway, was tolerably fair for a new boat. She takes her place in the line from here to Cincinnati next Tuesday. She looks plain, but neat and substantial.

Another opportunity is offered to those wishing to go down the river this evening. The fine steamer Tarascon, of the Henderson mail line, is at the Portland wharf. She will take excursionists to Mt. Vernon and back at the same rate as the Morning Star—six dollars for the round trip.

The Emma Floyd arrived in port this morning destined for Cumberland river. She added 50 barrels of lime to her cargo at Union, and considerable miscellaneous lots of freight here, and departed.

The Leona No. 2, from Madison, had a fair trip to this port. She departs again this afternoon.

The Dove No. 2 is the regular Kentucky river packet at 3 p. m. to-day.

The Anna is in port for St. Louis. She adds to her cargo here 550 lbs cement, 10 tons of iron pipe, 160 implements, 50 bbls whisky and 30 tons of miscellaneous freight.

The Leslie Combs brought a barge of pig iron to this market yesterday, and returned with a tow of empty barges.

The towboat Stella, with six empty barges, arrived yesterday from New Orleans.

The Alaska will be here to-morrow morning, on her way to New Orleans.

The Lorena, from St. Louis, is due here.

A RICH CASE.

A Young Man Brings Suit against the Sister of His Financier for Assault and Battery.

From the St. Louis Times, June 28.

In the court of criminal correction yesterday morning a case of assault and battery was called for trial, in which Mrs. Electa Reader was charged with having assaulted Charles S. Alvord, a young man frequently seen about the sacred precincts of the temple of justice, and known as an almost omnipresent jurymen. He was a jurymen on the Max Klinger trial, and is said to have worked quite hard to procure a seat in the jury box in the Donaldson trial. It appears he became acquainted with Miss Shelby, a young lady, twenty-three years of age, and cultivated her acquaintance to such an extent that they solemnly promised each other to marry. Her sister, Mrs. Reader, charged him with being guilty for nothing, without being able to support and together with another sister Mrs. DeWitt, opposed the match, and prohibited his coming to their house again. The case was conducted by Messrs. Colcord and Terry for the prosecution, and A. W. Mead and J. W. Moore for the defense.

Charles S. Alvord, the prosecutor, testified as follows: I know Mrs. Reader and saw her on the 18th of June; in the afternoon of the same day Mrs. DeWitt came down to my mother's house to inquire about some reports that had been circulated respecting myself and Miss Shelby, and to learn whether they were true or not; it was reported that Miss Shelby and myself had not done just right, and I was asked up to her house to clear it up; I went up to Mrs. DeWitt's, and when I got there found Mrs. DeWitt and Miss Shelby sitting in the parlor; shortly after Mrs. Reader came in, slammed her door, and locked it, and put the key in her pocket, and then closed the front shutters and windows; Mrs. Reader made some remarks touching the point to be decided, which caused Miss Shelby to cry. I told her not to cry, and that I would defend her with my life; Mrs. Reader remarked that we need no Shakespeares here, and that if I uttered another word she would take my life; Miss Shelby said she had better be careful how she talked around there, as there were witnesses present who could swear to what she said; at this Mrs. Reader leaped from her chair and struck Miss Shelby in the face, and made her nose bleed, and then went for me; she dug me in my eyes, grappled me by the throat, and held me so tight that I could not resist her; when Miss Shelby caught hold of her by the hair and pulled her away; I have not done any work to speak of for about three months; I was divorced on the 6th of May; I have not married since; I have been visiting Miss Shelby for eight or nine months; the most of the time against the wishes of her folks; Mrs. Reader charged that I had disgraced her family, and that she would report it to the court; she would have my life; I got out of the house by passing through the bedroom; the last time I ever lived with my divorced wife was the 6th of December, 1867; Miss Mollie L. Shelby, a young and rather pretty lady, twenty-three years of age, next took the stand; she said that she was the wife of Charles S. Alvord; I am engaged to be married to Alvord; my sister knew Alvord was a married man, and had no objections to his calling to see me, and that he was getting a divorce; I never made any visits outside of the city of St. Louis with him; when I was called to my mother-in-law, I called to Mr. Alvord to procure assistance, for I was afraid of my life.

Julia A. DeWitt, for the defense was called and said she was a sister of Miss Shelby, and was present at the time the alleged assault and battery took place; it was done in the house of her father, and she was present; she was cured, or was to procure. Mrs. Reader was there, and said to Alvord that he had disgraced and ruined one girl, and now he was trying to ruin another. I went down to Mrs. Alvord's house to invite Charles Alvord up to my house to see me, and my sister, and if they were true, I wanted him to discontinue his visits to both her and my house. My husband is an engineer on the steamer Commonwealth, running between this city and New Orleans. It was reported by Alvord's mother that he and my sister had been living together, and I called on the morning under disgraceful circumstances. What caused us to hate and despise such a man as Alvord was, that he was constantly telling outrageous lies, such as that he was to marry in a month—a week—in a few days; and such talk, knowing at the same time that he could not support a wife if he should marry; Mrs. Reader never struck Miss Shelby—but Miss Shelby struck her in the back with her double fists. A verdict of not guilty was rendered.

Alvord's wife, in her petition for divorce, alleged that she demanded for divorce, and that she was a virtuous and faithful wife, but that he was guilty of such cruel and barbarous treatment towards her as to endanger her life, and that during the month of October, 1867, in the kitchen, in the house of a Mrs. Taylor, on Austin street, because she assisted Mrs. Taylor in sweeping her dining-room, and found her valise, drew back the trigger and pointed it at her, when he was seized by the arm by Mrs. Taylor and prevented from firing the pistol. During the same month he repeatedly, and without any provocation, slapped her face, and threatened to shoot her; and on or about the first week of December, she returned from dinner at her mother's house to where his room was, knocked at her door, and he refused her admittance, whereupon she opened the door and entered her room, and found her clothing had been taken out of her trunk, and she was in the act of packing them in his trunk with his own; she asked him what he was doing with her clothes; he said he was going to sell them; she grabbed up one or two things from the floor and said you shall not sell these things; and he drew a revolver and with brutal violence threw her out of the room; she then left him; in February, 1868, he wrote to her from Post Oak, Missouri, to come up to where he was ill; she went, and on her arrival there discovered that he was not sick, but had practiced a fraud and induced her to return to him; she remained at Post Oak, Missouri, and at his urgent entreaty, again put him on probation, but, at the expiration of one week, his conduct became as violent, cruel and intolerable as before, and she again left him and returned to her mother. On another occasion, while she was going, under the escort of a gentleman, to hear the Bell Ringers, at Mercantile Library Hall, about the middle of March, 1868, he accosted her and drew a revolver out of his pocket and threatened again to shoot her. The first week in April, 1868, he accosted her on the street, alone, and called her a vile name. He has since been to her mother's house, during her mother's absence, and intruded and forced himself into her presence, and then again abused her; and since they were married he has never supported her, but has compelled her to support herself.

Such is this enterprising young man's record. Judge Hoar is overworked. There isn't enough law in the other departments.

The grain shovellers of Buffalo are now fighting a labor-saving machine.

For Cincinnati. A large party of young folks will leave on the morning boat for Cincinnati. They go to the Queen City to "celebrate."

Collision.

There was a collision of two teams on lower Market street at about noon. Several lines of immoral poetry were recited by the drivers to each other.

United States District Court.

The terms of this court generally last six weeks. The present term has consumed several days beyond this period, with no show of coming to a close.

Personal.

Col. J. T. F. Wright, of Pittsburg, the great agricultural editor of the country, is here. He has been attending the trial of reapers and mowers, near this city, the past week.

A Good Choice.

Our young friend, Ed. M. Gibbons, formerly a compositor in this office, has been elected superintendent and librarian for the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association. Aftable, industrious and kind to every one, Edward cannot fail to be an acceptable officer and give satisfaction to all.

Tom Allen, Esq.

By invitation of "numerous friends," this noted bruiser, who had such a nice time with Michael McCoolle, near St. Louis recently, has consented to pay Louisville a visit on Monday night, when he will hold a "select" levee in the old Academy of Music, corner of Fourth and Jefferson. The admirers of the "art" will, of course, all go to see Thomas handle the gloves.

The Marks-Bensinger Case.

The particulars pertaining to this case have long since been published by the city press. To-day the defendants moved the court in arrest of judgment, upon the ground that the act of Congress under which the indictment was found against them is unconstitutional. The defendant, Bensinger, moved the court for a new trial, upon the ground that the offense charged to have been committed jointly, instead of severally. The arguments upon the above motions were heard to-day, but the court takes time to consider.

The Earthquake.

The telegraph brings intelligence of the shock of an earthquake at various points in the West and Southwest on Thursday night. At St. Louis, New Albany, Madison, Ark., Holly Springs, Corinth, Miss., and other places, the shock was distinctly felt. And a morning contemporary was quite in error in stating that all was serene here. Several persons here say they distinctly felt the vibrating sensation between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock. But from our inquiries we incline to the belief it "was no great shakes" after all.

Our School Board in Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Commercial of this morning has the following: "The Louisville School Board are at present in the city, on a tour of pleasure, having arrived yesterday afternoon via the Cincinnati and Louisville Short-line railroad. They will spend to-day here in visiting the principal places of interest, returning home by the same route this evening. The party is stopping at the Spencer House, and consists of the following persons: Wm. W. Morris, W. W. Martin, Geo. H. Tingler, Jr., Hon. W. R. Kinney, Donald McPherson, John Colgan, Hon. B. F. Camp, Louis Elshrod, Dr. W. E. Robinson, J. C. Elrod, Henry McDonald, Geo. A. Scott, John S. Carpenter, Dr. F. C. Leiber, Wm. H. Moffatt, Prof. G. A. Chase, Prof. W. H. Bartholomew, Dr. H. T. Logan, S. Shotwell and M. C. Tall."

The Excelsior Mower and Reaper.

There is no one conversant with field machinery but will at once concede that this machine is one of the most valuable ever presented to the public. Tried in every State and Territory, it has met with a success really astonishing, and received evidences of merit have made both a reputation and power in the land. Simple in construction, strong and durable, it has proved a really efficient machine, both as a mower and reaper. The arrangement for changing from a mower to reaper and reversely is at once such as cannot fail to command favor. There is nothing about it to get out of repair, and no possible danger of accident to the driver. The successful manner for the past four days it sustained its reputation, on trial, both as reaper and mower, renders any commendation unnecessary. The new "Iron-Clad," made by the Massillon firm, met the expectations of its friends. Messrs. Bayless & Co., the proprietors, are a deserving credit, and they made a very favorable impression during the fair with this machine. It is a great improvement, and really a paragon of excellence, combining strength, durability, neatness and efficiency. It was well managed and it is gratifying to Mr. Seiberger, the inventor of the dropper, to know that his machine has not been the least humiliated in the hands of the gentlemen in question.

Well-Conducted Thieves.

"Oh thieves are well-conducted thieves. The police were off duty this morning attending a funeral, and the thieves declined to take anything—but a drink. Our thieves evidently tend to the "high moral."

Cricket.

The Union Cricket Club, of Cincinnati, will play a match game of cricket with the Kentucky Cricketers, at Cedar Hill Park, on Monday. We will now see whether the Unions, which is really the celebrated "Red Stocking" base ball club, are as good at cricket as base ball.

A Card—The Ball Mouse.

For the Louisville Express. Our special reporter for the great trial of field implements, which has made so much excitement in the agricultural community for the last week, extends his highest compliments to the proprietor and managers of this new, palatial and well-managed hotel. He is authorized by the principal machine men, who have made their headquarters, to say that they have never received better treatment. Coming in from the field of trial at late hours, they received such attention as made them feel at home. Captain Miller, as manager, is too well known to need commendation, and the clerks, Messrs. Main and Sanderson, as also the book-keeper, cashier and others engaged in their efforts to please. The table is such that, after partaking of a sumptuous repast, all joined in saying it is "good enough," which need we more of life.

The "Gulf States" is the hotel of the United States, is a credit to its proprietors, an honor to its managers, and deservedly worthy of the name of the best hotel in the United States.

A GOOD many of our country contemporaries are going to publish no papers next week because to-morrow is the Fourth of July.

THE COURTS.

LOUISVILLE CITY COURT.

HON. E. S. CRAIG, JUDGE.

SATURDAY, July 3.

I got my hat on the side of my head, and I looked myself all right, and I said, "I suppose I look like a fool," and I took me in, and I said, "I don't care, I don't care, you see, sir," and I turned my head, and I finished the job.

"This will pay my fee, sir." Some of the best cases in the world often look at the moon through spec, and frequently dodge into a speculation which draws them through the small end of the horn, even when they are through at all. John O'Baldwin has been trying to monopolize the whisky trade for some time past, and yesterday made a final run on liquor establishments this side of Beargrass. This was contrary to the spirit of our constitution, and he was taken in out of the wet, and charged $3 and bond in $100 for thirty days.

George Washington Price was the next individual who became entangled in the meshes of the law. Justice raised her ventral to keep off the sun and took a nap, and George, the little wrinkle about her mouth, was annoyed to see a crescent, and it was soon evident he had been weighed and found wanting. To make the "tips" even, it took just $3, backed by a good bond, to get on a level with the "whisky straight" which old King Alcohol had managed to sling in between.

John Adams is one who is greater than Rarney. All the equine blood have a particular liking for him, and one fine old bay went back on his boss, Dave Young, of Ohio, and brought Jack down here on a little excursion of their own. When they started upon the quicksands of this good old loyal State, the man and beast unfortunately fell on Uncle Aleck Gilmore, who put Jack in the stocks and Bay Dick in the stable, to await a little "inclination" of the matter.

Jane Allen and Nancy Walker, stealing from the continued list next Tuesday morning; and fixed at $1000 each, and the last unfortunately fell on Uncle Aleck Gilmore, who put Jack in the stocks and Bay Dick in the stable, to await a little "inclination" of the matter.

Wolf Kahn, Aaron Kahn and Dorcas Henderson, stealing records from Chancery Court Clerk's office. This is another case of Mordecai and Haaman—and old Wolf as Mordecai. This is what the attorney says who defends Wolf. The other important and distinguished characters who filled up the back ground in olden time have not yet made their appearance, though it is said that Esther will come in on the last day. Whether she will dare the king's presence is yet to be found out. This case was disposed of by requiring the defendants to give bond in $500 each to answer.

Wolf Kahn and Miss Dorcas were then presented on another warrant charging them with receiving stolen goods, knowing the same to have been stolen. In the end, Nathan is also "the boss." Continued till Wednesday, at half past 3 o'clock. At the present writing "poor Wolf" rests in the jug.
